DANCE

Dancers of intermediate to advanced skill levels, ages 12 to 18, will join Goucher's nationally recognized dance faculty and guest teachers for daily instruction in ballet, pointe, modern jazz dance technique; with electives in tap, ballet, and modern repertory; and improvisation. Students will be placed according to their technical ability and will participate in the program's final performance.

Faculty

Lester Holmes, Glenna Blessing, Linda Garofalo, Mat Heggem, Jayme Klinger-Host, Chandra Moss, and Karissa Horowicz

JAZZ

Our professional faculty offers students ages 13 to 18 a comprehensive program in jazz studies, with courses in improvisation, jazz theory, composition, musicianship, and jazz history. Students will receive private instrumental instruction and play in small combos, expanding their experience and understanding of jazz. A final concert will showcase their progress as jazz musicians.

Faculty

Jeffrey Chappell, Seth Kibel, Wes Crawford, Leonardo Lucini, Jon Mathis, and Courtney Sappington

COMPUTER MUSIC

Learn to compose and orchestrate your own music using the latest technology. Through creative work in the computer music studio, students will learn synthesizer programming and sound sampling, and every student will have access to editing and sequencing software. Student compositions will be featured at a concert on the last day of the workshop. Students ages 13 to 18 will be accepted into this exclusive program.

Faculty

Hyun Kyung Kim

DRUMSET AND PERCUSSION

Students 13 to 18 years old who have studied drumset or percussion for at least one year get right into action with real ensemble experience in jazz, classical percussion, African drums, and more. Other training includes private lessons, rhythm theory, and electronic drumset. Students wrap up their stay with a final concert in one or more of the performance groups.

Faculty

Wes Crawford, Kwame Brew, Jerome Herskovitz, Michelle Humphreys, John Locke, and N. Scott Robinson
