

Psychology Shadow Day

---

Congratulations on your admission to Goucher!

On behalf of my colleagues, I would like to invite you to a program designed specifically for admitted students who have expressed an interest in studying psychology. At Goucher, our students pursue a rigorous and dynamic course of study that emphasizes both quantitative and qualitative methods, a wide breadth of topics and perspectives in psychology, and applied experiences such as faculty-mentored research teams, internships, and self-directed projects. Our faculty are a highly dedicated and enthusiastic group of mentors who work with you directly every step of the way.

Our program will begin on Sunday, February 17, when you will join current students for dinner. During this time, your parents are invited to dinner with faculty members. After dinner, you will meet with one of our Goucher Ambassadors, who will serve as your overnight host. You'll spend the rest of the evening on campus and get a feel for what makes the residential experience at Goucher unique.

On Monday, February 18, you'll be paired with a current Goucher student who is studying psychology. You'll have the opportunity to shadow part of that student's day, which will include attending classes, exploring the campus, and having lunch in our new dining hall.

We hope you will take advantage of this opportunity to discover how you can excel and achieve your goals at Goucher. Visit www.goucher.edu/shadow to register for this program and view a general schedule. Please note that due to high demand for this program each year registration typically fills up quickly, so we hope to hear from you soon!

Sincerely,

Gillian S. Starkey, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor of Human Neuroscience
Center for Psychology