ACADEMIC DRESS

The custom of wearing academic dress extends back to medieval Europe and the revival of interest in learning that arose in the universities. The dress is an adaptation of the costume of the monastic order, as most scholars of that time were also members of the clergy. Rules governing academic dress at American colleges and universities come from an intercollegiate code written in 1895.

The mortarboard-style cap is worn for all degrees. The doctor's cap may be made of velvet; the doctor's tassel may be gold. Other tassels may be black or the color of the field of learning. Tassels are worn on the left side by those who already have a bachelor's degree.

Each of the three academic degrees—bachelor, master, and doctor—has its own distinctive gown and hood. The bachelor's gown is worn closed and has long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown, which is designed to be worn open, has a long, closed sleeve, and arms are passed through slits near the elbows. The doctor's gown, also designed to be worn open, has a full, open sleeve with three bars of velvet. The color of the velvet bars may be black or the same color as the trim of the hood.

The hood, which was originally a cowl that was slipped over the head for warmth, is the most colorful and distinctive feature of American academic regalia. Bachelor's and master's hoods—three feet and three-and-a-half feet long, respectively—are of similar design, black, and pointed at the base. The doctor's hood is four feet long with a full shape. The silk lining of the hood represents the institution that granted the degree. Its velvet border indicates the field of learning:

EVELYN DYKE SCHROEDL '62

Baltimore native Evelyn Dyke Schroedl '62 has been an active member of the Goucher community for nearly seven decades, her relationship with the college did not begin as a traditional student.

When Schroedl graduated from Park Forest High School in 1935, her family couldn't afford college tuition for her, so she began working at a department store downtown during the day and taking non-credit classes at night. She loved learning and studied a variety of subjects.

After marrying Irwin Schroedl Jr. in 1939, she became a homemaker for the next decade until her husband lost his job and she went back to work.

Her career at Goucher began in 1949 when she was hired as an assistant in the Registrar's Office, which at that time was located in downtown Baltimore. Schroedl soon learned that employees could audit classes, so she began taking classes right away. Eventually she was able to earn college credit as an adult learner. In addition to her work in the Registrar's Office, she worked as associate director of admissions, where she conducted interviews with students and found that she really loved writing.

Over an 11-year period as a full-time employee and a part-time adult student, Schroedl earned a bachelor of arts in English and membership in Phi Beta Kappa. Her love of learning and her interest in people had found a home at Goucher.

Schroedl's time at Goucher was marked by many events; the Civil Rights struggle, the assassination of President Kennedy and Robert Kennedy, and the completion of the new campus in Towson. When she retired in 1981 after 32 years at the college, she retired as Goucher's registrar.

Over the years, she has generously supported Goucher students and programs through the Evelyn Dyke Schroedl '62 Endowed Scholarship Fund, which helps deserving students for whom an undergraduate degree from a private liberal arts college would be unattainable without financial support. To celebrate her and her husband's love of art, she also established the Irwin C. Schroedl Jr. Lecture in the Decorative Arts and Material Culture to help bring prominent artists to Goucher's campus.

At 104 years old, Schroedl remains an avid artist and tennis enthusiast. She shares her love of the game with future generations of Gophers through her most recent gift, the Evelyn Dyke Schroedl '62 Tennis Center.

THE REV. DR. WILLIAM JOSEPH BARBER II

The Rev. Dr. William J. Barber II is president and senior lecturer of Repairers of the Breach; co-chair of the Poor People's Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival; bishop with The Fellowship of Affirming Ministries; visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary; and senior fellow at Auburn Seminary. He has been pastor of Greenleaf Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Goldsboro, NC, for the past 29 years. The church sponsors efforts that have led to over $12 million of community development.

Rev. Dr. Barber has authored four books and is also architect of the Moral Movement, begun in 2013, revived under the banner of the Poor People's Campaign. In 2018, Rev. Dr. Barber helped relaunch the Poor People's Campaign—which was begun by Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and many others in 1968.

Rev. Dr. Barber has been arrested 17 times for nonviolent civil disobedience.

Rev. Dr. Barber has given keynote addresses at hundreds of national and state conferences, including the 2016 Democratic National Convention and the homily at the 59th Inaugural Prayer Service for President Joe Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris. He spoke at the Vatican in 2017 at Pope Francis's encyclical "Laudato Si': On Care for Our Common Home," and was invited again in 2021 to a conference hosted by the Pontifical Academy of Social Sciences. In June 2018, he addressed the 5th UNI Global Union World Congress to more than 25 countries and was added to the Black Achievers Wall in the International Slavery Museum in Liverpool, England. He has had 10 honorary degrees conferred upon him.

Rev. Dr. Barber served as president of the North Carolina NAACP from 2006-17, and he served on the National NAACP Board of Directors from 2008-20. A former Mel King Fellow at MIT, he was named one of BET's 100 Entertainers and Innovators in 2020, is a 2019 recipient of the North Carolina Award, and received the MacArthur Foundation Genius Award, the Franklin D. Roosevelt Four Freedoms Award, the Martin Luther King Jr. Center's Beloved Community Award, and the Puffin Award.
