DESCRIPTION OF REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATE CREDIT:

- Present a lesson during the seminar that increases a student's critical thinking skills (10% of final grade).

Select a lesson or approach that works for you in your classroom. Explain its usefulness and make an argument that it increases a student's critical thinking skills in particular ways. You will present this lesson on Friday morning (5-7 minutes).

- Submit to the instructor TWO (2) additional new lessons that clearly meet the objectives of the AP Language and Composition course (20% of final grade).

1. Lesson Plan Title
2. Specific AP Objectives—What Will the Student Be Able to Do After Your Lesson
3. Required Materials
4. Step-By-Step Procedures (Include ALL Handouts)
5. How Will You Know if the Student Has Learned Anything?
6. How Will You Remediate?

- Annotate one AP English Language and Composition Multiple Choice Exam (20% of final grade).

You should follow the format of the 1991 exam that I will provide you in Word[®].

- Submit an essay of 750-1000 words that articulates the four skills or habits of mind your course will feature, with thoughtful descriptions of how your content will be used to teach these core skills (30% of final grade).
- Class participation: Actively engage with the information and approaches presented, work constructively in small-group activities, ask questions as needed for clarification (20% of final grade).

Due Date: All assignments must be submitted no later than two weeks after the last day of class. The instructor will make it clear during the week how and where to submit final work.
