

REMEMBERING THE HOLOCAUST

A Multi-Disciplinary Student Commemoration of Kristallnacht

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12

6 P.M.

BUCHNER HALL, THE ALUMNAE/I HOUSE

In 1938, the Nazis staged violent state-sanctioned, anti-Jewish riots known as Kristallnacht. Commonly translated as “Night of Broken Glass,” a reference to the broken windows of synagogues, Jewish-owned stores, community centers, and homes were destroyed that night. It was a turning point in Nazi anti-Jewish policy that would culminate in the Holocaust.

In “Remembering the Holocaust: A Multi-Disciplinary Student Commemoration of Kristallnacht,” Goucher students Nadav Marcus '17, Katie Mowrer '15, Gabrielle Spear '15, and Hannah Spiegelman '15 will perform oral histories of the Holocaust. The program will also include music based on the writings of Anne Frank, composed by Goucher President José Antonio Bowen and performed by Professor Lisa Weiss and Charlotte Khuner '17.

This event is free and open to the public, and no tickets are required.
Contact Justine Ruhlin '15 at justine.ruhlin@mail.goucher.edu for more information.

Also featured is The Artifacts Drawings, an exhibit with more than 100 drawings of artifacts from Holocaust museums, created by Baltimore-born, Goucher-educated artist and author Nancy Patz.
